BBC Radio 4 Extra - Arnold Ridley - The Ghost Train

It really is a top class sophisticated piece of work that I imagine is a must see at the theatre - avoid the 1941 film version - a ghastly mess with an extremely irritating Arthur Askey however the excellent comedy "Oh Mr Porter" with Will Hay (1937) is loosely based on the Ghost train and is worth checking out once you have read this.

Film: The Ghost Train (2011)

Walter Forde's second adaptation of The Ghost Train (the famous 1923 play) is a hoot & a half! It revolves around a motley group of passengers stranded at an isolated railway station on a dark and stormy night. Not before they're warned by the creepy stationmaster about the legend of The Ghost Train that haunts the station for 43 years. The movie is sprinkled with heavy doses of humour, thanks to hysterically funny Arthur Askey.

1900s. Left behind in China by her father, who has gone to North America to find work, Choon-yi has made her living by selling her paintings in the market. When her father writes one day and asks her to join him, she joyously sets off, only to discover that he has been killed. Choon-yi sees the railway and the giant train engines that her father died for, and she is filled with an urge to paint them. But her work disappoints her until a ghostly presence beckons her to board a train where she meets the ghosts of the men who died building the railway. She is able to give them peace by returning their bones to China where they were born. Ghostly, magical and yet redeeming, this tale by Paul Yee is superbly illustrated by Harvey Chan. This third book in the Cascade Mountain Railroad Mysteries series, based on a page from American history, follows a trio of mischievous and determined young crime solvers. It is 1926 in the remote camp town of Scenic, Washington, and Billy, Dannie and Finn have more on their minds than the upcoming Fourth of July pageant. When Billy finds a mysterious burlap sack containing a threatening note, he and his best friends have a brand new case to solve. Does the note have something to do with the strange, unscheduled trains that are moving through Scenic? The trail leads the trio to a planned railroad heist of a special train carryingraw silk worth millions from the Seattle shipyards to the East Coast textile mills. But time is
